1	7/3/2017	Clean Air Council v. Pruitt, 862 F.3d 1 (D.C. Cir. 2017). The U.S. Court of Appeals vacated the Environmental Protection Agency's attempt to delay a rule limiting methane leaks at oil and gas facilities. The rule requires companies to plug methane leaks, which would help recover valuable natural gas as well as help clean up the air. EPA delayed the rule, claiming that industry had raised objections that could not have been raised prior to the rule's issuance. The court found that EPA was wrong. Not only could the objections have been raised earlier, but they were in fact raised by industry before the rule was finalized.

The court found that the agency violated the Administrative Procedure Act's notice-and-comment requirements and that the agency had arbitrarily failed to consider the forgone benefits of the waste prevention rule.
